Writer for Hire

As a professional ghostwriter and editor, I am here to assist you with any writing, editorial, research or marketing projects. As a social media consultant, I have guided businesses, non-profits and artists in setting up, managing and maximizing their online presence.

My rates are reasonable and turn-around time is lightning fast. I have extensive grant and proposal-writing skills and have launched several author/artist brands. I can help you launch a low-cost, comprehensive multimedia advertising campaign that includes press releases, brochures, newsletters, research analysis, creating a new website, blogs, and building a successful social media following.

BIOGRAPHY

ELISA HATEGAN is a Romanian-Canadian author, speaker and freelance journalist whose writing has appeared in several literary journals and publications in North America, Europe and Asia. A multiple award winner, she has won Toronto Arts Council grants, Ontario Arts Council grants, and two Work-in-Progress grants from the Canada Council for the Arts.

Elisa is a renowned public speaker and subject matter expert on anti-racism, extremist political movements and terrorist recruitment tactics. She has been interviewed by CBC, CTV, CityTV, Global TV, Toronto Sun, Toronto Star, Globe & Mail, Metro News, Now Magazine, Xtra, Canadian Jewish News, Vision TV and various international media. She has appeared as a keynote speaker for Toronto City Hall, LGBT, Jewish and community groups.

Elisa has been featured in numerous articles and documentaries that exposed the illegal activities of the extreme far right. She has been invited to speak about anti-racism, human rights and homophobia to high school audiences across Ontario, Quebec, BC and Nova Scotia and at community gatherings such as Toronto Mayor's Committee on Race Relations.

Elisa was the inspiration behind the 1998 Canadian Broadcasting Corporation film White Lies, which starred Sarah Polley. Her story has since been published in the memoir Race Traitor: The True Story of Canadian Intelligence's Greatest Cover-Up. Her poetry and short fiction have appeared in premier Canadian literary journals that include The Fiddlehead, Grain Magazine, ARC and Contemporary Verse 2.

For over a decade, Elisa has contributed articles, multimedia essays, photographs and research to various print and digital media. In 2007 she created a popular LGBT Writers group that now has 200+ members. A University of Ottawa graduate with a double major in Criminology and Psychology, Elisa is currently pursuing an MFA in Creative Writing at the University of British Columbia. As a creative writing facilitator, she has provided art workshops to teenagers and female prison inmates and is dedicated to promoting artistic expression in the community, particularly among low-income women and at-risk youth.

She currently lives in the Toronto area where she runs the popular Incognito Press blog and works as a freelance writer, public speaker and social media consultant.
